

2006 AMA Supercross Series

ROUND 4, San Francisco, CA Race Report

The AMA Supercross Series moved to San Francisco, CA for round four of the sixteen race series. For the first time this year we saw rain flood the race track for Saturday's racing.

The rain did not hold back Yamaha of Troy rider Brett Metcalfe as he was confident on his Pirelli tires. (MT 32 rear/ MT 32F front) Brett scored the fastest lap time during practice and carried the momentum into the race winning Supercross Lite heat #1. Brett had a great podium speech thanking Pirelli several times giving his tires credit for the win.

When the gate dropped for the Supercross Lite main event it was Pro Circuits Ryan Villopoto and Yamaha of Troy's Brett Metcalfe leading the field into turn one. At the end of lap one Metcalfe was all by himself as he took the lead. On lap three Metcalfe fell over going into the whoops giving the lead to KTM's Nathan Ramsey. Due to the rain and track conditions the laps were cut down to eight making it hard for Metcalfe to make up the lost time. In the end Team Yamaha of Troy's Brett Metcalfe crossed the checkers one bike length behind KTM's Nathan Ramsey.

Pirelli represented five of the twenty two riders that qualified for the Supercross Lite main event. Team Maestro Suzuki riders Vernon Mckiddie and Adam Chatfield along with Richmond Kawasaki rider Colton Facciotti made their first ever Supercross Lite main event as well as long time Pirelli Canadian rider Marco Dube filling in on the Yamaha of Troy team.

Team Maestro Suzuki's Jeff Dement a former GP rider proved he could ride the rugged conditions placing 15th in the premier Supercross division on his RMZ450. Jeff is currently holds 20th in points after only riding two of the four events.
