2007 FIM Motocross World Championship

FINAL SEASON STATISTICS

MX1

Having clocked one more pole at Lierop, Tanel Leok of Kawasaki Racing confirmed to be the fastest rider of the season when it is time to chase the fastest lap. Leok has clocked five poles in total, while the rest of the field did not pole more than twice.

With Josh Coppins out, Marc de Reuver of Yamaha Motocross made up for his team mate's absence and for a difficult maiden season in the MX1 class by winning the final heat and clinching the podium, with a second place overall.

The GP of the Netherlands was won by Kevin Strijbos of Suzuki; this was the Belgian's fourth victory of 2007, and fifth of his career, but a mid season knee injury prevented him from clinching the Title.

His team mate Steve Ramon, who clinched the red plate at Donington, was the Championship winner at the end of an eventful season, and sealed his success with the sixth podium of the year.

With Ramon and Strijbos ending first and second in the Championship, Suzuki found the icing on the cake in the shape of the manufacturers' Title, which was secured with their fourth GP victory at Lierop.

Among the riders who clinched at least five podiums, David Philippaerts of KTM Red Bull, sixth in the Championship, was the only one who did not enter the top five in the Championship standings.

Four of the seven GP winners tasted success for the first time in MX1; they were Sebastien Pourcel (Faenza), David Philippaerts (Teutschenthal), Antonio Cairoli (Donington), Billy Mackenzie (Sugo), Ken De Dycker (Uddevalle). In the case of Pourcel and De Dycker, it was also the maiden Grand Prix win of their career.

MX2

At Lierop, Gareth Swanepoel of Molson Kawasaki won his first qualifying heat of the season, while Yamaha De Carli's Antonio Cairoli clinched his eleventh win in qualifying, which must be added to the two pole positions the Sicilian clocked at Teutschenthal and Moneyglass. Except for Bellpuig, where Cairoli was beaten by Christophe Pourcel in a 30 minute qualifying session, the 2007 MX2 World Champion was successful in each qualifying he took part in.

Cairoli ended the season with another double heat win, the eighth of ten Grand Prix victories overall. Latest round winner Tommy Searle of KTM Red Bull struggled a little bit on the sand of Lierop, and brought the bike home with a third place overall. Searle clinched his fifth consecutive podium, becoming the most consistent rider after Cairoli, thanks to a total of 10 podium appearances.

Sand specialist Gareth Swanepoel of Kawasaki Molson was second on the podium; the South African was on the podium twice this season, with his first time ever being at Valkenswaard – another sandy venue- in occasion of the season opener.

Following Cairoli's winning streak, Yamaha dominated the manufacturers' standings with a total of 11 wins, nine more than Kawasaki and KTM, the other winning manufacturers of the season.

Among the five Grand Prix winners, three clinched their maiden victory; they were Nicolas Aubin (Loket), Davide Guarneri (Namur) and Tommy Searle (Donington).
